Pension Fund Is Discussed By Council

A Police & Firemen's Pension Fund was under discussion last night at the regular meeting of the Murray City Council.

The Council is considering the setting up of this fund whereby qualifying members of the two departments may draw pensions on retirement.

Other provisions of the fund are that members, who are "temporarily totally disabled," apparently from any cause, may draw up to one-half of their regular salary per month. Policemen or firemen permanently disabled may draw fifty per cent of their salary.

The fund also provides for the widow and children of a policeman killed in the line of duty.

A committee composed of Mayor Holmes Ellis, City Attorney Walls

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

If you get the idea that all teenagers are going to the dogs, forget it. Just the worst of the crop get the publicity, just like the worst of the crop of adults.

We had the privilege of hearing several young folks sing yesterday at the Rotary Club, and we noted that without exception, they were also good students.

Take the Beta Five for instance. They are Charole Barrow, Carole Barrow, Glenda Compton, Shirley Bassell and Cathy Harris. They all sing beautifully, and look at what else they do. Good students, extra curricular activities, sports. They are not only top students, they are top people.

Then this trio from University School, Donna Rogers, Carolyn Hendon and Sheila Stalons. They played clarinets like veterans, just as composed as you please. We are not so well acquainted with them, but we'll bet most anything they are far above the average as students and, as people.

Mental Health Clinic Gives Good Service

The featured speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Theta Department of the Murray Women's Club held Monday, October 9, at 7:30 p.m., was Captain Gaylord T. Forrest, Community Coordinator-Administrator of the Community Mental Health Center of Western Kentucky.

Captain Forrest, himself a Murray resident, spoke on the subject "What the Community Health Program Means to Murray and Calloway County."

He explained that the regional program, which includes in-patient care at Lourdes and Western Baptist Hospitals in Paducah; outpatient and emergency care locally at the Murray Mental Health Center in cooperation with the Murray-Calloway County Hospital; Day Care in Paducah, and consultation and education through the Murray Mental Health Center, is providing these services now and they can be arranged by contacting the Murray Health Center, telephone number 753-8622.

Captain Forrest also explained that, while the staff of the Community Mental Health Center is composed of highly competent professionals under the direction of Dr. Marlow R. Harston, a qualified Psychiatrist, that the regional program is under the broad guidance of a 9 county community non-profit group with representation from each of the 9 counties (Purchase area plus Livingston County) which make up the Region.

The 4 trustees on this board from Calloway County are: Dr. W. Ben Humphreys; R. L. Cooper; A. W. Simmons, Jr., and R. W. Wilson. Dr. Humphreys has served as chairman of the board from November, 1966 to September, 1967.

It was also indicated to the Theta Department members how the various mental health services are delivered to the citizens of the Murray-Calloway County area, and it was emphasized that Mrs. Julie H. Leavins (AOSW), the resident Social Worker, and Mrs. Marion W. Baker (Intake-Receptionist), should be the initial contact made for any services desired.

Ward Spells Out Program Of Progress

Democratic Nominee for Governor Henry Ward today spelled out a program for Appalachian progress — with the emphasis on industrial development.

Ward linked more roads and vocational education closely to progress for the mountains of Kentucky.

"Roads and training are the keys to progress here," he said.

And he set a goal — doubling the rate of industrial expansion in Eastern Kentucky.

"Since the start of the 1960s, 163 new plants employing 13,000 workers have been established in Eastern Kentucky," Ward said. "I am setting a goal of getting at least that much industrial expansion in Eastern Kentucky within four years."

Ward claims he boosted Kentucky into the national lead in highway building and in park building.

Ward has a close identification with the Appalachian Regional Commission's highway program — and Kentucky has been in front in getting mileage through the program.

Other points in the program for Eastern Kentucky are increased efforts to boost homebuilding, elimination of inadequate schools, strengthening and augmenting available health services, promotion of local organizations strong in advancement, airport construction, and boosting the tourist industry.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

FINE PRINT IN YOUR DEED

Could you take a bolder into your home if you wanted to? Use a back room for running a business? Add a second story on top of your garage?

Of course, local zoning laws may stand in the way. But even if they don't, your hands may be tied by the fine print in your own deed. A typical deed, while giving you title to your property, also puts limitations on how you may use it. Such limitations, commonly called "restrictive covenants," may play a decisive role in your household planning.

Restrictive covenants, when properly placed in deeds by the original subdividers, may forbid all sorts of things in a particular neighborhood. They have been used to keep out everything from outdoor toilets to boarding houses, from second stories to cemeteries.

Generally speaking, the law will enforce such restrictions as a reasonable method of preserving property values. After all, the same rules that restrain you to protect your neighbors, also restrain them to protect you.

But restrictions will not be enforced if they are against public policy. Nor will the law enforce a restriction which, even though valid at first, has fallen out of date. For instance:

A home owner in an aging neighborhood decided to tear down his house and build a store. But a disgruntled neighbor took him to court, pointing to a restrictive covenant against any "business use" of the property on that block. However, the first man showed that stores had already invaded not only the streets near by but also that very block. And, until this occasion, no one had ever objected.

On this evidence, the court held that the covenant was no longer binding. As one judge put it:

"Restrictive covenants will not be enforced merely to harass some particular person, when it is clear that the objective for which the restrictive covenants were originally entered into have already failed."

Ahoy there fellow boaters. Don't let that heading fool you, this column is for all boating enthusiasts, men, women and children, for owners of all types of boats, from canoes to cruisers, inboard, outboard, sail or man-powered.

Those of us who went on the 1967 Fall Cruise sponsored by Murray Sport & Marine are still talking about all the excitement and interesting trip we had. Oh, I know the lake was rough, but it was still fun and those of you who couldn't make it missed a lot.

While on the subject of the Fall Cruise I would like to mention a couple of people who went on the cruise. They are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gaylor and are pictured below. Lee is the area representative for Evinrude Outboard Motors. With Mr. and Mrs. Gaylor was their daughter, Vicki, whom I did not get in the picture. (Sorry, Vicki!) Mr. and Mrs. Gaylor and Vicki, we enjoyed having you on the cruise and come back whenever you get a chance.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gaylor aboard 24' pontoon boat during '67 Fall Cruise.

JAN DALTON has come up with a good idea for correcting a boat's list due to off-center loading or a motor that turns in the wrong direction in relation to the mounting position of the steering wheel. A steering wheel that is mounted on the starboard side and a motor that turns clockwise causes the boat to list (tip) to starboard, likewise a port mounted wheel and a motor that turns counterclockwise causes the boat to list to port. Well, this gizmo that Jan is working on can solve all these problems and apparently will not be too expensive.

I will contact Jan and get all the details and as soon as the device is finished we will give you a full report and maybe a picture.

If any of you have any ideas for boating devices or improvements and what have you, are working on a boating project, or would like to see some specific phase of boating covered, please feel free to write. Address: Ahoy Boatmen.

Now what's this I hear about a lot of boaters pulling their boats out for the winter? It's too early! There is still time for a lot of pleasurable boating before winter really sets in.

Warm clothing, a sunny day, and maybe some hot coffee and it's still fine weather for a cruise, a picnic maybe, and definitely fine for fishing. And fall boaters get a big bonus, the lake isn't crowded like it was back in the summer so you won't have to worry about finding room at a good fishing spot. Don't be in too big a hurry to get the rig put up for the winter, go on out and take advantage of the wonderful opportunities for fall boating.

Well, it's time for me to cast off and get under way. I hope to see you all next Friday.
Remember: Safety Afloat is the Responsibility of all Boaters!

Income Tax Questions & Answers

Q. — I'm already claiming all my exemptions. Can I reduce my withholding any further? I could use the money to pay some of my medical bills.

A. — Additional withholding allowances may be claimed based on your actual itemized deductions last year. Ask your employer for Form W-4 and a Schedule A. To claim such additional withholding exemptions, the taxpayer must expect his itemized deductions for the current year to be at least as much as they were last year. For someone in the $4-6,000 wage bracket, an additional exemption is allowable if itemized deductions were at least $1,500 for 1966 and are expected to be at least that much in 1967. Taxpayers in the $6-10,000 wage bracket must have had and expect to have at least $1,700 in deductions to be entitled to an additional withholding exemption.

PENSION FUND

Overbey, Councilman Charles Mason Baker and James Rudy Allen have been studying the pension fund and after reporting to the council last night, were directed to continue the study.

The plan would be financed by contributions by police and firemen in an amount equal to their social security withholdings. The remainder of the benefits would be provided by the city of Murray through a special tax for that purpose. The tax would conceivably vary from year to year as the demands on the fund varied.

An effort will be made to determine just what the tax would be to support the fund.

A bill of $4800 was presented to the city by Tax Commissioner Charles Hale for preparing the tax list for the city of Murray. The city does not prepare its own tax list, but has employed the County Tax Assessor to do this job each year.

In former years the bill has been $1500 with the state supplementing this amount. This year the state is not supplementing the cost and the city must bear the entire amount, according to Mayor Ellis.

Charles Porter of South 11th Street appeared before the council with a petition signed by residents in the 500 block of Eleventh Street, between Sycamore Street and Story Avenue, asking the city to install bumper strips across the streets to slow traffic. He explained that the work on Twelfth Street has increased the traffic and excessive speeds on the short two blocks is very dangerous.

After some discussion it was agreed to place speed limit signs on the street and to place stop signs at the Page intersection to halt traffic in the middle of the two blocks. If this does not slow the traffic sufficiently, the bumper strips may be installed. A four week trial period will be used. City Judge W. H. Dunn's report indicated that for the last quarter meter fines produced $1,282.00, court costs $1,354.50 and miscellaneous fines $5,065.25. Total fines and costs amounted to $6,691.75.

The council named John Trotter as Superintendent of the Murray Water & Sewer System and James B. Buchanan as Assistant Superintendent. The changes were brought about by the death of Bob Ellis, former superintendent.

Councilman Leonard Vaughn reported to the council that studies are underway at this time on the location of a new standpipe for the city water system. The present structure on North 18th Street will be sufficient for some time, but as the city expands, the need for a new standpipe will become greater, he said.

Max Morris was named as a Police Sergeant by the City Council replacing Sergeant Weeks who resigned recently.

A four way stop at Sycamore and 16th was suggested. Mayor Ellis will investigate this possibility.

Councilman Richard Tuck, chairman of the Natural Gas committee reported to the council that Superintendent Jack Brown was resigning from his position in the gas system. He will remain until a new superintendent is named. Tuck indicated that the gas committee is seeking applications for the position and asked council approval of this procedure. The council approved Mr. Tuck's request.

The gas committee will screen applicants and will bring their results to the council for the naming of a new superintendent.

It was agreed by the council that no shrubbery or other plants should be planted in the city cemetery on graves or grave lots. It was explained that the care and maintenance of the cemetery makes it almost prohibitive for these plants to be placed on graves or lots. Plants already there may remain.

Marvin Thorn was named as a permanent employee of the Murray Sanitation System.

Chief of Police Bert Manning reported that a better search will be made for matches on prisoners in the future. One prisoner lost his life and another was seriously endangered recently in a jail fire allegedly started by one of the prisoners.

Chief Manning said that drunks will be placed in cells, which have no mattress until they sober up to the point where they can use some judgment. He said that this is common practice in other cities to place drunks in a "drunk tank" where they can do no harm to themselves or other prisoners.

Mayor Ellis reported that the new city park on South 16th Street which was contributed to the city by Freeman Johnson, has been diked and dragged. The area will be planted this week.

Chief Manning made his report for the month of September as follows: DWI 12, reckless drivers 31, public drunk 25, speeders 18, no city sticker 71, no operator's license 14, disregarding stop sign 11, unnecessary noise 5, malicious cutting 1, improper registration 6, illegal possession of alcoholic beverage 4, improper passing 1, breach of peace 3, breaking and entering 1, and assaulting a police officer 1, for a total of 213 citations.

Miss Dana Ann Dycus Becomes Bride Of Michael Paul Forbes; Residing In Murray

Trinity Methodist Church Peddycott was the setting for the wedding of Miss Dana Ann Dycus and Michael Paul Forbes. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John A. Dycus and Gilmer H. Dycus. Mr. Forbes is the son of Mrs. Mildred Milligan of Marion, Ill., and Paul Forbes of Goreville, Ill. Rev. Warren L. Phillips of Sevier, Tenn., brother-in-law of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Norman Harrison Jr., organist, and Mrs. Ronald Dycus, sister-in-law of the bride, soloist.

For the wedding occasion, the altar was held arrangements of mixed white gladioli and white chrysanthemums. Twin candelabra accented with white satin bows and holding white tapers illuminated the chancel. White satin bows marked the family pews. Keeping the register were Mrs. Don Dycus of Murray and Mrs. Frank Dycus of Nashville, Tenn., both sisters-in-law of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Ronald H. Dycus, wore a floor-length, A-line gown designed by Exquisite, of white satin, featuring a cage of white silk organza. The organza cage was accented at the bodice with appliques of Chantilly lace and miniature seed pearls. The long sleeves, accented with matching Chantilly lace appliques, tapered to cuffs at the wrist, where each featured a small, flat satin bow and three tiny fabric covered buttons. The cage terminated at a street-length where it was attached to a wide panel of Chantilly lace reaching the floor and accented with a triple bow of silk organza. A full chapel train of the same material, her shoulder-length veil, hand fastened in Empire silk-allusion attached to a lace double crown edged in seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies accented with white velvet ribbons and streamers.

Mrs. Warren L. Phillips of Sevier, sister of the bride, was master of honor. Bestmen were Miss Judy Branch of Paducah and Mrs. Robert L. Steele of Greenville, college roommates of the bride. The three attendants were identical floor-length gowns of pale yellow dotted Swiss, featuring empire waists accented at the back by Dior roses of the same material. Their handpieces were fashioned of yellow net attached to Dior roses matching those on the dresses. Each carried a cascade bouquet of yellow daisies with brown velvet streamers, designed to match the bride's bouquet.

John Pulley of Marion, served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were George Trammel of Marion and Gary Milligan of Johnston City, Ill., step-brother of the groom. Ushers were Larry Yowell of Marion and Bob Pasen of Carterville, Ill.

Mrs. Dycus, mother of the bride, was attired in a two piece suit of silk jersey in varying shades of green. She wore beige accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Milligan, wore a two piece dress of melon voile with white embroidery. Her corsage was also of white cymbidium orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table, decorated by Mrs. Ora Demark, aunt of the bride, and Jerry Dycus, brother of the bride, was covered by white linen overlaid in pale green nylon net. The net was caught up in scallops by small satin bows. Featured as a focal point was a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in yellow and white daisies, white sugar wedding bells, and a miniature bride and groom. On either side of the cake was a crystal punch bowl and a floral arrangement of yellow daisies and lilies. Silver candelabra holding white tapers completed the reception table. Assisting in service were Miss Barbara Johnson of Raleigh, N. C., Miss Brenda Jones of Kingsport, Tenn., and Miss Carol Jean Purdy of Orono, Ala., all college friends of the bride.

'First Class Dope' Ruining Her Life

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a reasonably attractive, well-balanced young lady of 24 years, and I'm sure I could make some nice young man a good wife, as well as a good mother to the children I'd love to have. My problem is this. Given a choice between two men with whom to fall in love, a nice, respectable, steadily-employed man, or a good-for-nothing bum, I invariably choose the bum.

Can you tell me why? Is it because deep down, I have an unconscious liking for abuse? (The bums take my money and treat me badly.) Or could it be that I deliberately avoid the good prospects because I really don't want to get married yet?

I am asking you because I can't afford to go to a psychiatrist. After 26 years of a happy marriage, I took a fling with another woman. Then to make matters worse I got a little drunk one day and told my wife I was "in love" and wanted a divorce.

Needless to say, my wife was heartbroken. Come the dawn, I woke up to the fact that I really didn't want the other woman OR the divorce, and all I wanted was my wife.

She hasn't left me, and I don't think she will, but things haven't been the same between us since. All this happened a year ago, and when I tell her I love her, that I have changed and will never be unfaithful again, all she says is, "Yes, Dear."

Have you any advice for an old fool, Abby? OLD FOOL

DEAR FOOL: What's been done better, and marry one.

DEAR ABBY: After 26 years of marriage I received a birthday greeting card (the first one) from my mother-in-law.

Should I write and thank my mother-in-law for her "thoughtfulness"? Or should I thank my husband for telling her to send the card?

"FLOORED" IN TARZANA
DEAR FLOORED: Thank them both.

DEAR ABBY: I am probably the dumbest man in the world. After 26 years of a happy marriage, I took a fling with another woman. Then to make matters worse I got a little drunk one day and told my wife I was "in love" and wanted a divorce.

Needless to say, my wife was heartbroken. Come the dawn, I woke up to the fact that I really didn't want the other woman OR the divorce, and all I wanted was my wife.

She hasn't left me, and I don't think she will, but things haven't been the same between us since. All this happened a year ago, and when I tell her I love her, that I have changed and will never be unfaithful again, all she says is, "Yes, Dear."

SEEN AND HEARD ...

Then the Murray High group as introduced by Mrs. John Bowker, Susan Nance, Jean Cooper and Linda Darnell. All headed with Susan's a Merit semi-finalist. All work on this and that in school.

Talking with them after the program and Mrs. Darnell reminded us that she had sung at our son's wedding. We had not recognized her. She had cut her hair which threw us off.

This young lady has one of the loveliest of voices.

It does the grown-up good to see so many bright young folks who have ambition, goals, initiative, and sticktoitiveness.

Young people who do things are truly the hope of the future.

Jack Bryan is leaving the Murray Natural Gas System as its Superintendent.

This fellow has done a tremendous job in establishing the gas system. The system has never had a dime and has made money from the beginning.

Jack started with no customers and today has over 1000. He had a selling job to do and he did it. He tried everything in the book. He advertised, he promoted, he advertised and he promoted.

Today the system is a solid success, expanding all the time.

The people of Murray owe a debt of gratitude to Jack Bryan for the superior way in which he has operated a public utility.

Within less than the next fifteen years, the gas system will be funnelling money into the city treasury which will act as a bonanza to the mayor of the city at that time.

The mayor of that day will have all the funds that he needs to perform the hundred and one services that people in a growing community demand.

The gas system is unique in that the profit it makes may be used by the city of Murray for nearly anything it desires. It can be used to pave streets, increase salaries, purchase equipment for any department. With the income from this system, city taxes can be cut or eliminated.

Right now of course, the proceeds must be used to pay off a million dollar bond issue, but when that is paid off, glory be.

Hats off to Jack Bryan, a fellow who has done a good job. We appreciate his good work and we appreciate a fellow of his calibre.

cannot be undone. Try to make it up to your wife by actions — not words. Pray that eventually she will find it in her heart to forgive you. If she does, you're lucky.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FREE AGAIN." It wasn't much of a marriage when a man will gladly pay a lawyer $300 for untangling the knot he grudgingly paid a minister $25 for tying.

St. Louis Cards' Bob Gibson Makes Difference In Series

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN
UPI Executive Sports Editor
BOSTON 876 — The world champion St. Louis Cardinals and disappointed Boston Red Sox emerged from the World Series only one game and name apart—Bob Gibson—and will make a lot of difference to them both in 1968.

Now that they know he's sound again after suffering a broken leg in mid-season, the Cardinals can start by building their pitching staff around Gibson next season.

He not only made World Series history by beating Boston, 7-2, with a three-hitter in the seventh and deciding game at Fenway Park Thursday, but also proved to the Red Sox they need more pitching next year—maybe another pitcher like Gibson.

Gibson Comes Through
The Cards asked Gibson to win the big one with only three days rest—something he's avoided after coming back from his injury.

Big Bob merely:

—Set down the Sox with three hits despite the howls of anguish from 36,198 Boston fans.

—Struck out 10 batters to run his series total to 26, only five less than his own series record of 31 set in 1964.

—Tied a series record by posting a 3-0 record for the classic.

—Scored his fifth straight series victory and fifth straight complete game in a string going back through the '64 classic against the Yankees.

—Became the first pitcher to win two seventh games he also did it in '64.

—Outpitched Boston's double winner Jim Lonborg in their only face-to-face clash.

—And, as icing on the cake, hammered the first homer of his series career in the fifth inning to boost his lead at that point to 3-0 and that technically was the winning run.

Lou Brock, who batted .414 with 12 hits and stole a series record of seven bases, and Roger Maris, the ex-Yankee who batted .385 and took runs-batted-in honors with seven.

But Brock himself said it all when he was asked that hoary question: what was the series' turning point?

Brock hoisted his victory champagne and said simply: "Bob Gibson."

Despite their triumph, the Cards were ready to admit there is no 1968. And their runaway National League pennant this year may not be repeated. There was hardly any forecasting of a "Card dynasty."

That's because the series was produced by a handful of players—Gibson, Brock, Maris, Nelson Briles, Curt Flood and some others.

Looks Forward To Future
One Card problem is Maris, now 33 years old, who commented, "I'm mighty glad I had this good series because I'm getting pretty well along in my career."

Other Card problems: The future of Curt Flood, with the sore shoulder that forced him to throw underarm much of the season; whether Dick Hughes, a 36-game winner as a 29-year-old rookie, can put good seasons back to back; the Sox bombed him in the series.

The Red Sox chief need was painfully obvious—another pitcher. On Thursday the Red Sox paid a delayed price for the barons—because their ace Lonborg had to pitch the season's finale, he was shoved back in the series rotation, until, finally, he had to pitch the seventh game with two days' rest. No one else could do the job.

Lonborg was blasted for all 10 Card hits in the six innings he worked, including Gibson's solo homer and Julian Javier's three-run homer.

Yastrzemski won the AL's triple crown by winning the batting title with a .326 mark, leading in runs batted in with 121 and sharing the home run lead with Harmon Killebrew at 44 each while Clemente won his fourth NL batting crown with a .357 mark that was the highest in the league since Stan Musial's .376 in 1948.

Cepeda, acquired from the Giants in the summer of 1966, paced the Cardinals with a .226 average, 25 homers and 119 runs batted in.

Lonborg wound up with a .22-9 record and a 3.18 earned run average, finishing the season by clinching the pennant for the Red Sox by beating Minnesota on the last day of the campaign.

Horton included a no-hitter in his 19-7 record and 2.96 earned run average.

club President August Busch.

Warning For Future
"We're going to be great for a few years to come," Musial warned the baseball world, already aware of their might. They won the World Series Thursday by beating Boston Red Sox, the American League's best, 7-2 in the seventh game.

Beer baron Busch bused Mrs. Musial as he arrived and dined, "Next year, we're going to win again."

The party roared well into the morning, with the band serenading each player. With "Mr. Wonderful." In the background, baseball announcer Harry Caray asked World Series hero Lou Brock, "How come you didn't steal home?"

Brock, who swiped a record seven bases, replied, "With the hitters behind me! With a laugh he announced, Today was the first pressure he'd had since July 24th."

Happy With Win
To the indomitable "stout-hearted men," Roger Maris, who led both teams with seven RBIs, said, "It's been a real pleasure. I've almost forgotten how good it was to be in baseball. People were very nice and I appreciate it."

The chaos began quietly Thursday afternoon when businessmen emptied their wast baskets out of upper story windows immediately after the first out. It picked up momentum at the airport, as some 15,000 persons greeted the Cardinals with a loyal display of hysteria.

Major League Ball Players Cited Today

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK 879 — Carl Yastrzemski, the American League's triple crown winner, and Roberto Clemente, four-time National League batting champion, were named unanimously today to the United Press International's 1967 major league All-Star team.

Orlando Cepeda, slugging first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, also was a unanimous selection in the voting which was conducted before the World Series.

Named to the team along with Yastrzemski, Clemente and Cepeda, were catcher Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers, second baseman Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins, shortstop Jim Fregosi of the California Angels and Gene Alley of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Third baseman Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs, outfielder Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves and pitchers Nippy Lonzberg of the Boston Red Sox and Joe Horlen of the Chicago White Sox.

Fregosi and Alley shared the shortstop spot when each received 11 votes from the UPI board of 24 experts. Rico Petrocelli of the Red Sox received the other two votes for shortstop.

The Red Sox, with Yastrzemski and Lonzberg, and the Pirates, with Clemente and Alley, were the only teams with more than one player on the squad.

Joining Yastrzemski and Clemente in the outfield was the Braves' Aaron, who was named on 14 ballots. He easily out-distanced Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles, the AL's triple crown winner of 1966 who had five votes, and three others.

Yastrzemski won the AL's triple crown by winning the batting title with a .326 mark, leading in runs batted in with 121 and sharing the home run lead with Harmon Killebrew at 44 each while Clemente won his fourth NL batting crown with a .357 mark that was the highest in the league since Stan Musial's .376 in 1948.

Cepeda, acquired from the Giants in the summer of 1966, paced the Cardinals with a .226 average, 25 homers and 119 runs batted in.

Noted College Football Teams Begin To Change After 2 Weeks

After last week's games, with L. S. U. and North Carolina State making the biggest news— and moves—while Florida and Memphis State disappeared from sight, the thundering herd did some real jockeying for position. Auburn and Washington moved into the elite corps for the first time, and Southern Cal took over the Winner's Circle vacated by Houston.

So... Number One knocks knuckles with Number Three Saturday as Notre Dame enters the fray. The Trojans already carry a couple of big Spartan and Longhorn scraps, and would like nothing better than to add the Irish to their list. However, we're crawling out on that thin old limb again (it's been known to snap off at times) and give rather a big edge to Notre Dame. The Irish will grab the Trojan scalp by ten points.

Another nerve-jangler is the Big Eight scrap between 13-ranked Missouri and 17th-ranked Colorado. With tongue in cheek, we'll pick Missouri to ease by the Buffaloes by 3.

If those two games don't jump your pulse-rate, then try Oklahoma-Texas where all stops are pulled out each year. The Sooners are rated 16th, but the Longhorns are ready to make their move. They'll bump Oklahoma by four points.

Second-ranked Purdue will beat Ohio State by 15... U. C. A., No. 8, will breeze by California by 14... and 14th-ranked Texas Tech should top Texas A & M by five.

And how about L. S. U.? Rated 9th in the Harmon Football Derby, the Tigers are favored over Miami by fourteen points. On the West Coast, 19th-ranked Washington is 23 points too strong for Oregon.

It also appears that Maryland is doomed to a bit of destruction at the hands of 24th-ranked North Carolina State... the difference should be 24 points. Vanderbilt is a 25-point underdog to 6th-rated Alabama, and Nebraska, No. 18, will tumble Kansas by seven.

Syracuse slipped all the way to 20th in the ratings... they'll slip Navy by five points. Wyoming, in 12th position, should whip Utah by fourteen.

Mississippi will be muscled up again Saturday, this time by 4th-ranked Georgia. The Bulldogs will down the Rebels by 13 points. And 11th-ranked Auburn will up-end Clemson by eight points.

We picked Georgia Tech to be upset last week by Clemson, but the Wreck took win No. 3. This week, however, 9th-ranked Tennessee is going to clip 16th-rated Tech by seven points.

Golden Hurricanes Are Off To Another Good Season

NEW YORK 879 — Tulsa's Golden Hurricanes are off to a fast start toward an unprecedented sixth consecutive national passing championship among the nation's major college football teams.

The Hurricanes used a record-breaking 698 yard aerial assault against Idaho State last Saturday night to take over the No. 1 position in total offense and passing.

Weekly statistics compiled by the National Collegiate Sports Services showed the Oklahomaans have gained an average of 568 yards per game. In the air they have picked up an average of 431 yards.

Tulsa's 698 yards passing represented the heaviest aerial bombardment in major college history. The previous high was 634, set by Texas Western against North Texas State in 1965.

Tulsa's eight touchdown tosses against Idaho State also tied the single game record set by Kentucky against North Dakota in 1960. The 568-yard total offensive average compiled by the Hurricanes is the highest in the last 16 years.

UCLA paces the nation in rushing with an average of 287.3 yards per game while Syracuse leads in both rushing defense and total defense. The Orange has picked an average of 18.7 yards rushing and 129 yards total offense.
